

TRACKING & NATURE CONNECTION

SPRING 2016

Connecting with Nature Through the Art of Tracking

Tracking animals and the relationships between living things is a rewarding path to deeper nature connection.

TNC—ESSENTIALS

A thorough introduction to the art and science of tracking that focuses on building your foundation in tracking skills and nature connection

- ◆ Learn to interpret tracks and sign
- ◆ Develop strong nature connection routines
- ◆ Engage between-class practices
- ◆ Learn about animals and ecology
- ◆ Begin to hear bird language
- ◆ Build community in nature connection

Four Saturdays this Spring from 9–4:30pm

March 19, April 9, April 30, May 21

Cost: $350 for the series (sold as a whole)

TNC—DEEPENING SKILLS

Takes your foundation and uses personal goals and group work to further your skills and feeling of deep nature connection (previous tracking experience required)

- ◆ Develop the art of tracking
- ◆ Deepen nature connection routines
- ◆ Hone your skills with track and sign
- ◆ Begin trailing of animals
- ◆ Interpret and respond to bird language
- ◆ Personal goals and adventures

Three-Day Weekend Immersion

Friday June 3 at 9am–Sunday June 5 at 3:30pm

Cost: $400 for the Three-Day Immersion

$650 for both series, Four Saturdays plus Three-Day Immersion

“Thanks again for the BEST workshop EVER. It has made lasting impressions on us.” L.T. of Oakland, CA

For more information or to register, please contact Regenerative Design Institute at Commonweal Garden:

regenerativedesign.org

or to talk with an instructor, call 831.359.9852 or email scofredav@yahoo.com

Instructors John Brossard and Scott Davidson have trained intensively with tracking mentor Jon Young and are certified in Track & Sign Interpretation by senior tracker Mark Elbroch. Scott and John approach tracking in a holistic way by weaving together tracking skills, inner tracking and community.